

Employee Orientation Presentation

There are times
in all our lives,
when life's
problems
can be overwhelming...

We are strong individuals, often wearing the many hats of parent, employee, supervisor, friend, volunteer, coach, and caretaker.

Usually, we can wear our hats with ease and handle the trials and issues on our own.

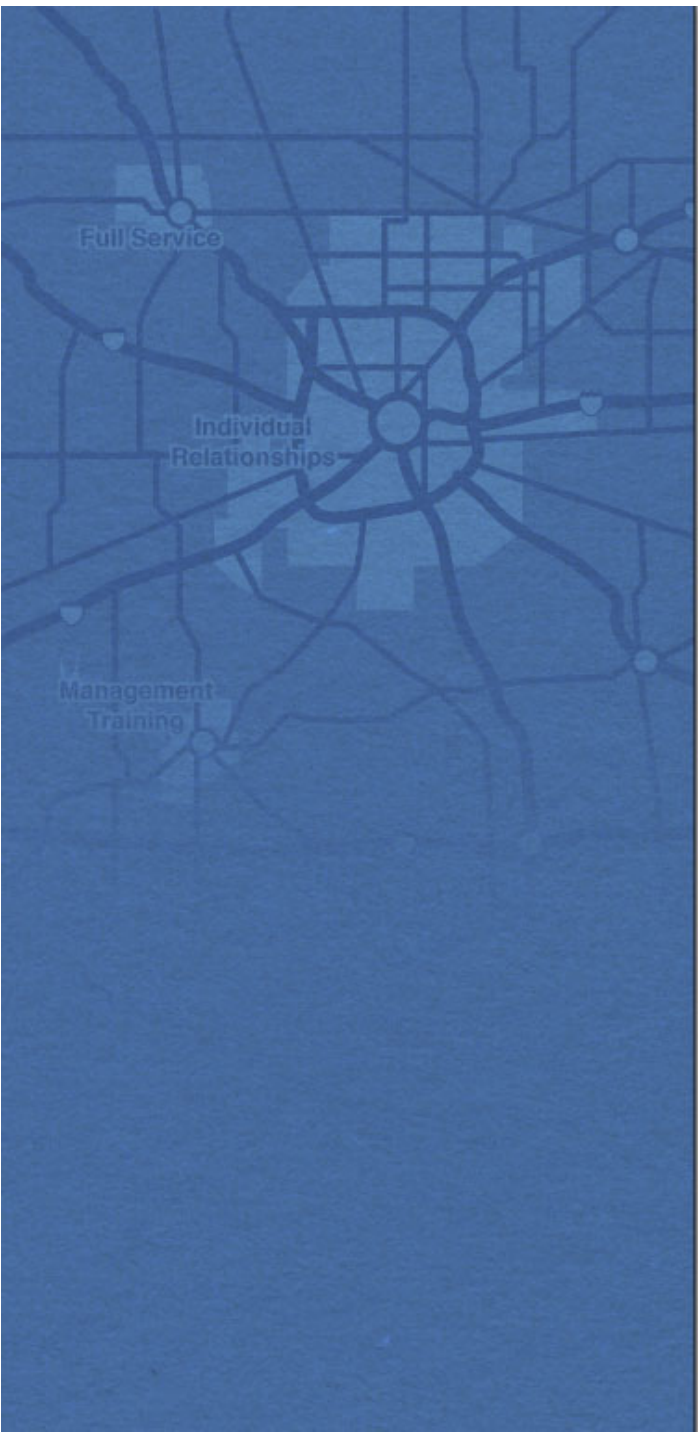

There are times however, that the problems escalate, sometimes to levels that can affect our work life, home life, even our overall sense of happiness.

When life's
problems are
getting you down,
and you don't know where to
turn,

DIRECTIONS EAP
wants you to know that there is a place to call for help.

Your employer is proud to offer this company-paid
benefit.

DIRECTIONS

Employee Assistance Program, LLC

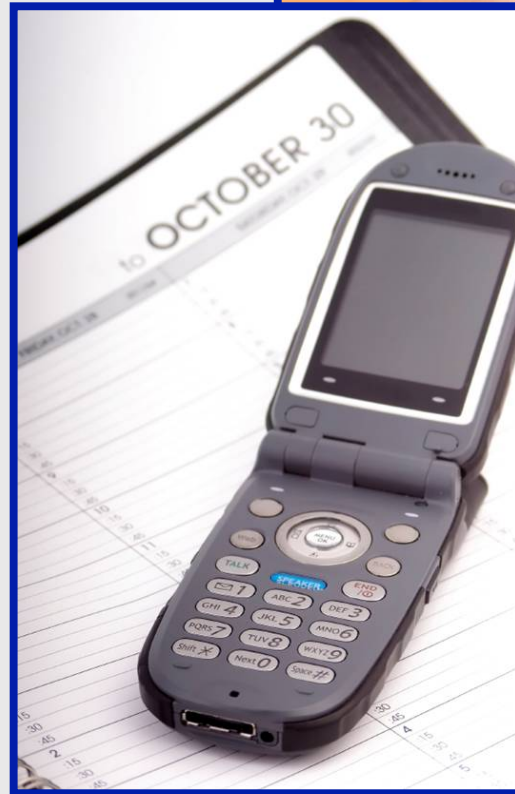

DIRECTIONS EAP
strives to provide practical solutions to
your personal, family,
and workplace
concerns.

When personal problems are affecting
your career, and more
importantly, your life,
remember that you
are not alone; help
with many of life's
issues can be addressed together...

- work-related problems
- family difficulties
- stress
- financial problems
- marital conflicts
- alcoholism and drug abuse issues
- legal issues
- codependency
- grief issues

Even though DIRECTIONS EAP is an employer-provided benefit, our services are completely confidential.

Employees and their family members can access this service directly by calling our toll free number for a referral to one of our affiliate providers in your area.

Managers and Supervisors can access the DIRECTIONS EAP resources for help with a number of work-related issues:

- Coworker conflicts
- Crisis intervention
- Team building

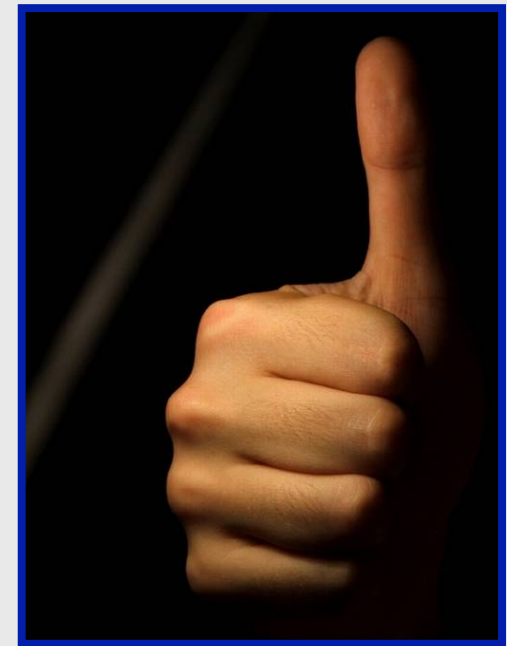

The DIRECTIONS
EAP counselors and their affiliate providers
are qualified, caring professionals and are ready to help you.

No problem is ever
too small or too big.
Catching the small
stuff before it turns into big stuff is the key to maintaining
balance in your
busy life.

After an initial meeting and assessment, you and your counselor will decide a course of action.

Unlike other referral services, you can see a DIRECTIONS EAP affiliate counselor up to six times.

If referral to another provider is necessary, your counselor can assist you in determining what is appropriate both personally and financially.

DIRECTIONS EAP services encompass a broad range of life's issues.

Maybe you are facing a difficult decision, or you or a family member needs help with anxiety or depression issues.

Perhaps alcohol or substance abuse is creating stress in your home, or you have experienced a devastating loss.

A DIRECTIONS counselor specializing in one or more of these serious issues can help you sort through the confusion.

While counseling individuals for personal problems is the primary focus of DIRECTIONS EAP, there are also other benefits available.

Our website includes articles that provide education and assistance on topics including:

- assertiveness skills
 - balancing work and home
 - credit problems
 - managing anger
 - tips for parenting teens
- ...and more!

DIRECTIONS EAP also offers confidential legal consultation for those times when you have legal questions, but don't know who to ask.

Call DIRECTIONS EAP, toll-free, and we can refer you to a legal professional for a 30-minute consultation.

While not able to take on cases or intervene on anyone's behalf, these attorneys will explore your legal options with you and make referrals to help in your area.

Who is eligible?
